Guiding us on in the Vision

The year 1951 has much in store for every graduate. We have heard how many there are here to destroy the dignity of man. There is corruption in high places. There is too much selfishness, because people are seeking only their own interest.

You have had the opportunity of a good education. That education which should have moulded your mind and heart in such a way that you will be an influence on all you come in contact with.

The great teacher of mankind was the God-Man who is the great link between man and God. If you link yourself to God by prayer and yourself to man by work and study your influence will be far reaching.

America has always needed men and women who will not be movie stars. But builders of homes that will be a stone wall against all of the isms that threaten our country.

To you do we look so that the words of the great Saint Benedict may come through you "that in all things God may be glorified."

Father Egbert Hall, O.S.B.

CLASS WILL

To whom it may concern: Now that the Class of 1951 is about to leave this sphere of activity, it devolves upon the members thereof to put their desks in order, set the classroom to rights, and make disposition of those treasures that must be left behind. Therefore, representing the Class of 1951. I have prepared the following document. But right here is a word of explanation. A will made in proper form always stipulates first of all: "After the payment of my just and lawful debts." Classmates, insolvency threatens, for we are indebted to parents, to other members of our families, and to the school faculty. Our obligations would be a crushing load were it not that our future usefulness is the insurance policy which guarantees the payment of our "just and lawful debts." So to our creditors we pledge our future service, loyalty and labor.

Joan Rottinghaus wills her skillful driving to Luella Gellhaus.

Mary Lou Gellhaus wills her love for Kelly High to Reva Nolte.

Mary Ann Boeckman wills her height to Mary Ann Brokamp.

Donald Hunninghake wills his intelligence to Rosalyn Haverkamp.

Gertrude Bokern wills her liking for free days to Betty Stallbaumer.

Raymond Winkler wills his pastime of chewing gum to Mary Brokamp.

Gladys Korte wills her love for dancing to Reva Nolte.

Lawrence Hermesch wills his expert farming ideas to Richard Enneking.

Marion Korte wills his expert singing to Geraldine Steinlage.

Geraldine Hutfles wills her neat handwriting to Rosalyn Haverkamp.

John Steinlage wills his curly hair to Luella Gellhaus.

We hope that the Junior Class will continue to keep the good class spirit of Kelly High, which we tried so to preserve. We, as a group, will to the students of Kelly High School our studiousness, our ways of keeping things in place; all our Senior dignities; and our indomitable courage of bringing are lessons in on time.
